Allegion UK, alongside its family of leading door hardware brands, is set to present a complete fire door solution at The Fire Safety Event, taking place between the 8th – 10th April at the NEC, Birmingham.

With a focus on keeping people safe where they live, learn, work and connect, Allegion's team of experts will be on hand with specification, installation and maintenance advice at this year's event, and will showcase a flagship range of fire door solutions, including architectural hardware, fire and smoke seals, vision panels and an intumescent fire block louvre system. To demonstrate the crucial role that fire door hardware plays in fire safety, Allegion is inviting visitors to stand 4/K106 where they can experience three full-sized door models, each displaying a harmonised set of tested and certified products suitable for timber and steel fire doors.

Throughout the three-day event, Allegion will also exhibit a working model of its unique XB120 automatic door operator from Boss Door Controls. Available in a choice of seven high-quality finishes, ranging from 'Light Bronze' to 'Matt Black', all finish options are designed to enhance all architectural styles.

Speaking on their plans for the event, Pete Hancox, country manager at Allegion UK, commented: "Fire doors are a key element of passive fire protection, and in the event of a fire, it's crucial that essential door hardware has been expertly specified, correctly installed and properly maintained. As part of our ongoing campaign to raise awareness and reduce knowledge gaps in these areas, we're delighted to return to The Fire Safety Event, as it provides the perfect platform to offer valuable expertise and support to a key audience.

"We will be showcasing the Allegion family of brands at this year's event and plan to offer visitors true peace of mind by presenting a complete fire door solution that combines a range of our certified, highly-engineered and third-party tested fire door safety products. Our team of experts will also share real-time installation advice, with live demonstrations of our unique self-adhesive Accufit system, which has been enhanced to facilitate easy and accurate installation of our Briton door closers.”

The Fire Safety Event supports industry practitioners, professionals and organisations in achieving and maintaining the highest standards in fire safety management, and provides visitors with the perfect opportunity to observe the latest products, technology and solutions in fire safety.
