

British Safety Council announces winners of International Safety Awards 2025

6 months ago

British Safety Council has revealed the 789 winners of its prestigious annual International Safety Awards. The highly prized accolades reward organisations for their work in health, safety, and wellbeing.

Now in their 67th year, the International Safety Awards recognise and celebrate organisations from around the world which have demonstrated to the satisfaction of the scheme's independent judges their commitment to preventing workplace injuries and work-related ill health during the previous calendar year. The awards also acknowledge organisations that have shown commitment to wellbeing and mental health at work.

In 2025, 789 organisations won an International Safety Award. They span all sectors with significant representation from the construction, manufacturing, oil, gas, mining, power and utility sectors. Winners were drawn from 45 countries worldwide. 212 organisations were awarded a Distinction, 371 organisations were awarded a Merit and 206 organisations achieved a Pass.

The full list of winners can be seen here.

Announcing the winners Mike Robinson, Chief Executive of the British Safety Council, said: "Sincerest congratulations to all organisations, individuals and teams that have won a prestigious International Safety Award. Our winners have clearly made substantial and ongoing efforts to protect and improve the health, safety and wellbeing of everyone in their organisations. All the winners, and those who were shortlisted, have gone the extra mile in terms of dedicating additional time, resources and commitment to ensuring their work, teams and workplaces remained healthy and safe during 2024. I would also like to say thank you to all the organisations who took time to apply for these awards and to our panel of judges who volunteered to adjudicate them.

"It is our vision at the British Safety Council that no-one should be injured or made ill through their work – anywhere in the world. By sharing the achievements of the winners of these awards, we can inspire other employers everywhere to follow their lead and give workers' health, safety and wellbeing the priority it rightly deserves.

"As always, our gala dinner event provides the opportunity to celebrate the success of all the winners of the International Safety Awards and our associated free to enter awards. We believe it is important to celebrate these successes, as we know it fosters a sense of community and empowers others. It also creates the momentum which attracts more success."
