

Lexington Catering partners with Abbey Road Studios

5 months ago

Lexington Catering has been appointed as the exclusive catering provider for Abbey Road Studios, located in St. John's Wood.

This partnership brings Lexington's expertise in tailored food and drink provision to the global home of music making. The collaboration aims to enhance the in-house dining experience for Abbey Road's colleagues and guests with a curated range of services, including a central dining space with a bespoke salad bar, rotating hot food concepts, a coffee bar, and plans for in-studio ordering and a continuation of Abbey Road's premium event catering.

At the heart of this partnership is the creation of "The Kitchen" – a bespoke F&B brand designed to cater to diverse tastes and preferences. This approach reflects Lexington's commitment to delivering high-quality, appetising food and drink that meets the needs of a dynamic and creative environment.

A key focus of the partnership is introducing more health-conscious options to Abbey Road. Lexington will introduce its "Mindful Kitchen" initiative, which provides access to socially responsible food menus featuring ingredients from Symplicity and Wild Farmed.

The dining experience will also include authentic street food menus from Lexington's own brands created by colleagues, such as Akwaaba (Ghanaian cuisine), Impasto (Italian dishes), and Rama Social (Latin soul food). These offerings aim to provide staff and guests with a variety of high-quality, contemporary food options inspired by high-street trends. Improving coffee culture is another priority, with Lexington introducing partners who are committed to ethical sourcing and social value.

The collaboration between Lexington Catering and Abbey Road combines sustainability and innovation in food and beverage, creating a dynamic hub for everyone who works at or visits the studios.

Matt Wood, Managing Director of Lexington Catering, said: “We are thrilled to announce our partnership with the iconic Abbey Road Studios. This collaboration marks an exciting chapter for Lexington as we bring our exceptional catering and events services to such a legendary and inspiring location. We look forward to creating unforgettable experiences together.”

Sally Davies, Managing Director of Abbey Road, said: “We are excited to collaborate with Lexington Catering to provide a superior food experience for everyone at Abbey Road.

“Together we have created a space that helps build a community and enhance the experience, with The Kitchen providing high street style food options alongside choices that promote health and wellbeing.

“We were also impressed by Lexington’s digital capabilities, which will allow guests to order food and drinks directly to individual studios, ensuring convenience and flexibility for all our guests.”