

Praxis Group Strengthens Senior Team with the Appointment of Andrew Lunt as New Managing Director of Praxis Facilities Management Ltd

4 months ago

Praxis announces the appointment of Andrew Lunt as Managing Director, Praxis Facilities Management Ltd. (PFM).

In this new role Andrew will work closely with the Praxis Group Board in driving the growth of Praxis's in-house facilities management business with a focus on enhancing the service offering and delivering new business.

Andrew was previously Managing Director at Atlas Workplace Services where he held the position of Group Head of Services and joins Praxis at a time of sustained growth across the Group, with the remit to provide dedicated leadership to one of the vertically integrated Group's key divisions.

Andrew Lunt commented: "I am delighted to join PFM at a very exciting juncture in the company's growth story. Praxis's success is built on delivering exceptional service across its various business lines, and as we continue to expand my focus will be on enhancing the service offering within the facilities management business, embracing new technologies and supporting our occupiers. I look forward to leading the talented PFM team in driving excellence and supporting Praxis Group to achieve its wider asset management goals."

James Hewitt, Chief Operating Officer, said "We are delighted to welcome Andrew to the team. Andrew's experience and strong track record in growing businesses aligns with Praxis's objective to expand our facilities management function, which is an important component of our vertically integrated model. Andrew will play a key role in ensuring that as it expands and grows, PFM will continue to provide best-in-class service, not only to the Group, but also to new client relationships outside the Group".

PSD Group advised Praxis on this appointment.
