Reckitt Pro Solutions is thrilled to announce they are the official hygiene partner for the 2025 London Cleaning Show (18-20th March) and will be bringing their portfolio of internationally recognised cleaning and hygiene brands to stand E5 at the ExCeL London Venue. The London Cleaning Show is the UK's premier cleaning and hygiene event, and this year's show promises to be the largest to date.

Reckitt Pro Solutions will be bringing the latest research results, information and best practices for cleaning and hygiene in commercial spaces. Alongside this, they will be demonstrating the role efficient and effective products have in helping create protocols that support stronger businesses.

"We are delighted to once again have Reckitt Pro Solutions as our Official Hygiene Partner for 2025. Across the show we're looking forward to seeing how businesses can benefit from better hygiene results that lead to stronger businesses," said Paul Sweeney Event Director of the London Cleaning Show.

At the stand, Reckitt Pro Solutions will be demonstrating how their exceptional hygiene solutions help create stronger businesses.

Dettol, the globally trusted liquid soap brand, will have a range of products on show including their first-ever hand wash formulated specifically for professional use: Dettol Pro Cleanse Liquid Hand Wash.

Alongside Dettol, the team will also be introducing the recently launched Quantum Professional range of warewashing products designed specifically for the HoReCa markets. The range was created in response to the crucial requirement in this sector for brilliant, clean glass and dishware, as a critical driver to securing 5-star reviews.

Together with Quantum Professional, the Vanish range will also be on the stand at the London Cleaning Show. Products on show will include Vanish Carpet Care & Upholstery Vacuum Up Foam. This product is designed to remove three times more dirt than vacuuming alone, making it ideal for maintaining cleanliness in high-traffic areas such as hallways, staircases, and upholstery in hotels and office spaces.

The entire portfolio of Reckitt Pro Solutions brands will also be available at the stand, demonstrating their value in strengthening businesses through efficient and effective cleaning.

Reckitt Pro Solutions continues to innovate with science-backed products that help protect workspaces, and businesses, through exceptional cleaning and hygiene protocols that are efficacious and efficient, getting results that contribute to the development of stronger businesses.
