

Elior UK appoints Ian Miller as chief commercial and procurement officer

5 months ago

Leading contract caterer, Elior UK has announced the appointment of Ian Miller to its leadership team as chief commercial and procurement officer. In his new role, Miller will lead Elior's procurement and commercial functions, to explore new commercial opportunities and drive strategic growth.

Miller has been a valued member of Elior since joining the company in 2006 as an assistant management accountant. He went on to become senior commercial accountant, divisional finance director and head of financial planning and analysis. Over the years, Miller has demonstrated consistent professional growth, contributing significantly to the company's commercial success.

With extensive industry knowledge and commercial expertise, Miller has played an instrumental role in Elior's acquisitions, including Lexington, Taylor Shaw, Caterplus, and Edwards & Blake. A strong advocate for career development, he is committed to fostering internal talent and supporting the professional growth of colleagues across the business.

Catherine Roe, CEO of Elior UK, commented: "Ian's extensive experience and deep understanding of our business make him a natural choice for this role. His leadership in procurement and commercial will be invaluable as we continue to strengthen our operations and identify new growth opportunities. We are delighted to welcome him to the leadership team and look forward to his contributions."

Ian Miller shared his thoughts on his new role: "I am honoured to take on this new position and excited about the opportunities ahead. We have so much talent within our teams, I look forward to working closely with colleagues to drive innovation, enhance our commercial strategies, and continue delivering exceptional value to our clients."

Miller's appointment underscores Elinor UK's commitment to nurturing internal talent and leveraging industry expertise to drive success. His leadership will be pivotal in shaping the company's future commercial and procurement strategies.