

Munnelly Support Services announces appointment of Andrew Rhodes as new Managing Director

5 months ago

Munnelly Support Services, a leading UK provider of construction logistics services, has announced the appointment of Andrew Rhodes as its new Managing Director.

Vastly experienced and with a deep understanding of board-level strategy, Andrew joins the company this week after spending the last three years as Operations Director at Mace.

With a track record of success in both the logistics and defence sectors, his CV also includes roles as Head of Terminal Operations at Stansted Airport, Director at Wilson James and Head of Logistics for the HS2 project.

His arrival will enable previous Managing Director, James Munnelly, to take on a more strategic role on the Board of Munnelly Group Ltd, which leads the way in delivering construction and infrastructure support services.

Andrew, who has an MA in Defence Studies from Cranfield University, said: "I am delighted to be appointed as Managing Director of Munnelly Support Services at such an exciting time for MSS and the Munnelly Group. Thanks to James and the team, I take over with a rich history of delivery on some of the biggest and most complex projects in recent history, with a strong order book of current projects and, most importantly, a very strong pipeline of future work in existing and new sectors and with long-standing and new clients.

"I look forward to working with the team and the Munnelly Group leadership team to build on these foundations by continuing to deliver client-focused support solutions through our collective focus on Innovation, Trust and Collaboration.”

Munnelly Group Ltd CEO, Phil Munnelly, said: “Andrew brings with him a wealth of experience and leadership expertise that will be instrumental in driving operational excellence and maintaining the high standards of service our stakeholders have come to expect from us.

“I am confident that Andrew’s leadership, combined with the strength of our existing team, will ensure a seamless transition and continued success for Munnelly Support Services.

“I would also like to acknowledge the exceptional leadership of James Munnelly, who has delivered significant operational and financial improvements during his time as Managing Director of Munnelly Support Services. James will now focus his attention on supporting the Group’s continued growth at a strategic level.”

James Munnelly said: “After five incredible years leading Munnelly Support Services, I am proud to be stepping into a new role at Group Board level to help shape the strategic future of the Munnelly Group.

“It has been an honour to work alongside such a dedicated team, and I am excited for this next chapter. I have full confidence in Andrew Rhodes as he takes on the role of Managing Director, and I know he will continue to drive the business forward with the same passion and commitment our clients expect. I look forward to supporting Andrew and the wider Group as we build on our strong foundations and continue to grow together.”

From pre-planning services to the provision of construction traffic management plans, delivery management plans and waste management, Munnelly Support Services has provided innovative solutions to some of the most prestigious construction and infrastructure projects in the UK, including Heathrow Terminals 2A and 2B, the Olympic Athletes Village, Lord’s Cricket Ground, and the ‘Walkie Talkie’ building at 20 Fenchurch Street in London. Established in 1982, the Munnelly Group Ltd has grown from a family-owned construction company into a hugely successful multi-brand business leader with expertise in construction, security, rail, work-winning, recruitment and geospatial surveying.
