1 year ago

Armacell, a leader in flexible foam for the equipment insulation market and a leading provider of engineered foams, announces that Stefan Garmann will take over the management of the EMEA East region in addition to his current responsibilities as General Manager EMEA North.

The expansion of his role is part of a broader organisational realignment within the Armacell EMEA region aimed at structuring commercial activities in a more customer-focused way, optimising the supply chain and further strengthening internal collaboration to enhance customer experience.

Stefan Garmann has been with Armacell since 2014 and brings with him many years of experience from various management roles within the company. Most recently, he successfully led the EMEA North region, focussing on the German, BeNeLux and Nordic markets. He is now also assuming responsibility for Eastern Europe, the United Kingdom and Ireland.

“Stefan Garmann has made a significant contribution to the successful development of our organisation in recent years. With his in-depth knowledge of the market, his clear customer focus and his leadership skills, he is the ideal candidate to successfully develop the EMEA East region, the United Kingdom and Ireland,” comments Malte Witt, Vice President EMEA at Armacell, on the appointment.

With this organisational realignment, Armacell aims to strengthen its market presence across all EMEA regions and create the framework for responding flexibly and efficiently to evolving demands in international business.
