

PTSG Appointed to Fusion21 National Building Safety and Compliance Framework

10 months ago

Neo, part of Premier Technical Services Group Ltd (PTSG), has been successfully appointed to Lot 7: Fire Safety Inspections under the newly renewed Fusion21 National Building Safety and Compliance Framework.

The framework is designed to support public sector organisations in meeting evolving building safety and compliance standards—particularly those introduced under the Building Safety Act 2022. It enables members to maintain safe, compliant buildings while addressing emerging fire safety priorities.

Peter Francis, Group Executive Director (Operations) at Fusion21, commented: “Our members are investing significantly to ensure the safety of the buildings they manage. The renewed framework reflects the increased compliance responsibilities under the Building Safety Act and provides practical, effective solutions. We’re proud to continue supporting our members through this next generation of our Building Safety and Compliance Framework.”

Neo, specialists in passive fire protection, works across multiple sectors to eliminate fire risks in occupied buildings. Services include:

- Fire door surveys, installation and maintenance
- Fire-rated glazing systems
- Fire curtains and cavity barriers
- Fire stopping and penetration sealing

- Fire compartmentation surveys

In line with its commitment to fire safety excellence, Neo is offering free consultations to Fusion21 Members, aimed at addressing Fire Door Maintenance challenges and supporting long-term compliance.

With its appointment to the framework, Neo strengthens its role as a trusted delivery partner in building safety—ensuring fire risks are managed effectively and in line with the highest industry standards.
