

Across the stadium campus, over 80 food and drink outlets kept fans fuelled with a mix of Scottish classics, global street food, Laurent-Perrier Champagne, MOTH canned cocktails, sizzling gyros, smoky BBQ, loaded fries, vegan bites, and sweet churros. Over 1,000 Elior UK colleagues each day served over 7,000 meals, featuring locally sourced produce, and sold a record-breaking number of drinks.

Scottish Gas Murrayfield roared again when AC/DC brought their high-voltage rock show to Edinburgh, with around 2,000 hospitality guests enjoying themed menus and décor inspired by the band's legendary catalogue. Highlights included 'Down Under Doughnuts,' 'Bush Burgers,' 'Whole Lotta Rosie' desserts and live electric guitar performances.

Craig Stewart, Managing Director for Stadia, Concessions & Universities at Elior UK, said: "The last few weeks have welcomed unforgettable performances, and hospitality experiences that matched the energy on stage. Our team delivered delicious and enticing food and drink and collaborated closely with Scottish Rugby to create a truly memorable experience from when the doors opened to the final encore."
