

PTSG to deliver year-round water safety support for NOV

2 months ago

Premier Technical Services Group Ltd (PTSG) has secured a new contract to provide specialist water treatment services for NOV Wellbore in Aberdeen, delivered through its constituent company HCS.

NOV – a global leader in energy technology with a heritage spanning more than 150 years – continues to drive innovation across the sector. Its expertise supports customers in producing energy safely and efficiently, while contributing to the wider transition towards more sustainable solutions. The company operates under the banner: “We power the industries that power the world.”

Under the new agreement, engineers from HCS will deliver a full programme of water treatment and hygiene services to support NOV’s operations. The work will help ensure the safe management of water systems year-round, reducing risk and maintaining compliance with all relevant regulations.

PTSG’s Water Hygiene, Water Treatment and Remedial Services division is a trusted provider across multiple industries, recognised for delivering reliable, sustainable and cost-effective solutions. The Group’s focus on system safety, Legionella protection and long-term performance makes it a valued partner for organisations operating in high-risk or technically demanding environments.
