

ChargePoint and Ford Pro Team Up to Enable Seamless EV Charging for Fleet Customers

4 months ago

ChargePoint (NYSE: CHPT), a global leader in electric vehicle (EV) charging solutions, today announced a new collaboration with Ford Pro in Germany and the UK. The collaboration offers specialised home, depot, and workplace EV charging solutions for Ford's commercial fleet customers, aimed at lowering the total cost of ownership for fleets of all sizes.

"ChargePoint's customised, scalable solutions deliver fleet operators with operational visibility and improved efficiency," says Rick Wilmer, CEO of ChargePoint. "Electric fleets thrive when charging becomes intuitive, reliable, and seamlessly integrated into your daily operations. Together with Ford Pro, we are supporting every charging scenario to help fleet managers lower costs and streamline operations."

Through this new collaboration, Ford Pro customers with advanced electrification needs may access ChargePoint's expert team to prepare for charger installation, site planning, and related services. This offering ensures smooth installation, management, and optimisation of charging infrastructure, accelerating deployment and improving scalability.

"At Ford Pro, we're laser-focused on boosting productivity and uptime for our commercial vehicle customers," said Hans Schep, General Manager, Ford Pro, Europe. "This strategic evolution of our charging approach allows us to connect businesses with the most innovative and reliable charging solutions. By collaborating with industry leaders like ChargePoint, we can help our customers maximise the potential of their electric vehicle fleets."

ChargePoint offers a wide range of benefits for fleets. This includes advanced capabilities, such as automated reimbursement for fleet vehicles charged at home and intelligent power management at charging depots. ChargePoint's industry-leading fleet charging software not only streamlines operations but also provides detailed energy insights and financial analysis to simplify reporting.

By combining specialised services and advanced charging technology, this new offering significantly enhances the Ford Pro customer experience for electric fleets across Germany and the UK.
