

Latest Edition of FM Director Out Now

3 months ago

FM Business Daily is delighted to announce that the latest edition of FM Director came out this week. As usual, this month's issue is full of exclusive features and interviews from some of the FM industry's most respected experts and leaders.

As March is the month that we celebrate International Women's Day (8th March), our special focus is on women in FM. Our cover story is an exclusive interview with Linda Alexander CIWFM, IWFM Deputy Board Chair. Our editor, Claire Middleton, caught up with Linda earlier in the month to discuss her three decades in the industry, the relaunch of the Women in FM network, and why humble beginnings should never define your future.

We also speak to several other superwomen in the industry, including Jo Gilliard, CEO of Jangro, Global Director of Marketing at Codelocks International Ltd, Ros Bayliss, and Kirsty McManus, Professional Development Services Director at IoD.

Other insightful interviews this month include Andy Cruickshank, SOS Leak Detection's newly appointed Head of Operations, who discusses the launch of the company's comprehensive Leak Detection and Prevention Guide, and Paul Evans, CEO of Carlisle Support Services, who discusses this month's fantastic Innovation Lab 2026 at the ACC in Liverpool.

And as if that wasn't enough, this edition also features several other key voices in the industry such as PTSG, CIBSE, Phil Smith from The Hill Club, and more.

As always, we hope you enjoy this edition of FM Director and remember, if you have anything you'd like to discuss with us, please drop the editor a line at claire.middleton@businessdailygroup.co.uk.
