As part of its ongoing commitment to supporting the communities in which it operates, Premier Technical Services Group Ltd (PTSG) has announced a new grassroots sports partnership with Hunslet ARLFC, reinforcing its role as a major regional employer headquartered in Castleford.

The sponsorship will see PTSG support the club across multiple levels of the game – from junior development through to the senior team – helping to provide opportunities for players, coaches and families involved in community rugby league.

The partnership includes Gold Club Sponsorship, First Team support, coach sponsorship for Liam Thompson, and the provision of branded playing kits for the club's Under 9s squad competing at the prestigious Leeds Rhinos Butlins Tournament – the world's largest rugby league festival.

PTSG's investment will fund new team kits that will continue to be worn throughout the season and beyond, ensuring lasting benefit for young players while strengthening the sustainability of grassroots sport within the local area.

Greg Ward, CEO of PTSG, said: "As a business with a headquarters in Castleford, rugby league runs deep within many of our communities and among our colleagues.

"Supporting grassroots clubs like Hunslet ARLFC is about more than sponsorship – it's about investing in opportunities for young people, supporting volunteers and coaches, and helping local organisations continue to thrive."

Jamie Fields, Director of Rugby at Hunslet ARLFC, added: "On behalf of everyone at Hunslet ARLFC, I would like to sincerely thank PTSG for their support of our Under 9s, First Team and coach Liam Thompson.

“This sponsorship makes a real difference to our players, helping us provide the best possible environment for them to learn, develop and enjoy rugby league. It also means a great deal to our coaches, parents and volunteers to know that businesses like PTSG are willing to invest in grassroots sport and support local communities.”

Hunslet ARLFC plays a vital role in developing players of all ages, providing structured sport, mentorship and a positive environment for young people and families across Leeds and West Yorkshire.
