PTSG shortlisted for two PFM Awards in recognition of landmark NHS Grampian electrical compliance programme

Premier Technical Services Group (PTSG) has been named as a finalist in two categories at the PFM Awards 2026, recognising a landmark electrical compliance programme delivered by Guardian Electrical Compliance across the entire NHS Grampian estate.

The group has been shortlisted for Partners in Expert Services, Large Estates and Partners in Healthcare, both in recognition of a programme which achieved full Fixed Wire Inspection and Testing (EICR) coverage across NHS Grampian's entire estate for the first time.

Delivered over five years by Guardian Electrical Compliance, a PTSG company, the programme inspected, tested and recorded every building and electrical asset across the health board's portfolio without a single disruption to patient care.

Alongside the technical delivery, PTSG deployed its proprietary TraQ-it compliance platform, replacing paper-based records with live digital data that gives NHS Grampian real-time visibility of its compliance status across the whole estate.

Greg Ward, CEO of PTSG, said: "Being shortlisted at the PFM Awards in two categories is a real honour and one that means a great deal to everyone across PTSG and Guardian. This programme is the result of five years of exceptional work and a genuine partnership with NHS Grampian built on trust, expertise and a shared commitment to patient safety. To see that work recognised at the highest levels, in both FM and healthcare, tells us we are doing something that matters. We are incredibly proud of what has been achieved and equally proud of the people who made it happen. Well done to everyone involved.”

The PFM Awards ceremony takes place on 4 November 2026.
