

Clym Brown Appointed as Divisional Director of Paxton

1 day ago

Clym Brown has been appointed as Divisional Director of Product Management (Software) at Paxton, bringing years of additional industry experience to the company's Product Management leadership team.

In his new role at Paxton, Clym will focus on defining the future of Paxton's software products and digital services. He will also support the development of solutions that deliver additional value for installers and end users, in line with their security made simple ethos.

Commenting on the appointment, Steve Taylor, Chief Technical Officer at Paxton, said: "We are pleased to announce Clym Brown has joined Paxton on a permanent basis. He brings significant industry experience and will play an important role in helping us continue to develop and deliver innovative software solutions that support installers and end users, while maintaining our focus on simplicity and performance."

Clym is well known in the security industry, having spent 25 years working in senior product, technology and leadership roles at Texecom, where he helped shape product strategy and bring new technologies to market.

Before joining Paxton permanently, he worked as a consultant, supporting the company's software strategy and product development initiatives. The experience allowed him to work closely with teams across the business and gain a deeper understanding of the award-winning culture and approach to technological innovation.

Speaking about his appointment, Clym said: "To say I am proud to have joined Paxton is an understatement. I have always worked for companies I believe in, and Paxton is exactly that. I've long admired the company's approach to customers and security technology, and the focus on making professional security simple resonates with me. I am excited to contribute to the company's ambitious roadmap and help shape the future of its software products and digital services.”

“I’ve seen first-hand the passion, expertise and innovation that goes into everything people at Paxton do. It’s the people behind the process that make it such a great business to be part of.”