Premier Technical Services Group Ltd \(PTSG\) has appointed Mark Hardisty as Installation Director, Projects at Trinity Fire & Security, as the business strengthens its installation operations to support continued growth.

Mark moves into the role from a senior operational position within PTSG Fire Solutions, having joined the Group last year. He brings extensive experience from a successful career in senior project management and leadership roles across the construction and mechanical and electrical sectors.

The appointment comes as Trinity Fire & Security introduces a more focused structure across its Installation business, creating two dedicated areas covering Projects and Works.

His promotion also reflects PTSG's continued focus on developing talent from within and creating opportunities for colleagues to progress as the Group grows.

Amanda McIntyre, Managing Director of Trinity explained: "Mark has made a strong contribution since joining PTSG and we are delighted to recognise that by appointing him to this important leadership role.

“He brings considerable operational and project experience, together with a clear understanding of what our customers need from us. We are confident he will provide the leadership and focus required as we continue to develop our Projects business.

“Mark’s appointment is also another excellent example of the opportunities available to talented people across PTSG. We want our colleagues to build successful careers with us, take on greater responsibility and progress as our business grows.

“Investing in our people, recognising talent and developing strong leaders makes us a stronger business and ultimately helps us deliver an even better service for our customers.”
